

Vanessa Campos (SFSU 2016)

Kanta CHANDRA

1910 from Delhi, India

After the death of her parents, thirteen-year-old Kanta ran away to America with her four siblings in order to stay together as a family. Suspected of having tuberculosis, they were detained on Angel Island for a few days. When she looked out the window of her barracks and saw San Francisco, Kanta thought, “So close but, so far.”

<https://immigrant-voices.aiisf.org/stories-by-author/869-so-close-but-so-far/>
[April 2020]